Local seniors make talent quest semi-final

TWO local Jims have a few things in common - they share the same name, talent and on Sunday, July 3 they sang their way into the semi-finals of the Senior Superstar competition.

Jim Ryan, 68 from Geebung and Jim Hodgson, 76 from Zillmere sang in front of more than 300 people to get through the talent quest's Heat 2 held at Geebung-Zillmere RSL.

It was a special day for Jim Hodgson who took to the stage to sing Dean Martin's 'Everybody Loves Somebody...' on his birthday in front of his supportive family and friends.

Performing at his home club was Jim Ryan who is also a board member of Geebung-Zillmere RSL. He sang a version of Elvis Presley's 'You Gave Me a Mountain'. The Geebung resident who usually keeps his singing for inside the cab of his truck found out he had enough talent to take out the People's Choice winner.

The two singers will join other Heat 2 winners whistler Richard Wade and twice grand-finalist Barbara Tyrell in the first semi-final at the Broncos League Club on August 7.

Twelve acts will then be selected from the semis to compete in the grand-final on August 28 at QPAC's Concert Hall.

National choral school auditions open

APPLICATIONS are now being accepted for national auditions to join Gondwana Choirs' 2012 National Choral School.

Each year in January, top aspiring choristers, composers and conductors from across Australia come together for National Choral School, an intensive and inspirational two-week season led by the nation's finest musicians.

"Whether you are just starting out in music at age 10 or already have vast choral and musical experience at age 25, Gondwana National Choral School is the ideal opportunity for you to share your passion for music in a friendly and supportive environment and extend your musical skills as never before," artistic director and founder Lyn Williams said.

Now in its 22nd year, Gondwana Choirs continue to foster the future of choral music and home-grown Australian musical talent.

They have achieved internationally recognised artistic standards with Gondwana Voices one of only five choirs of the world to be invited to perform at the World Choral Summit in Beijing, 2012.

Gondwana Choirs pride themselves on helping to bridge the gap between the classroom and the concert hall through their choral programs.

One of the hallmarks of the Gondwana experience is the opportunity to sing specially commissioned music.

Each year, exciting new works are added to an already diverse repertoire of Australian music. This is combined with music from across the world, sung in original languages, to give young Australians an unparalleled experience of artistic immersion.

Participation in Gondwana National Choral School is based on an annual application and audition process and is open to young singers aged 10-25, from all areas of Australia. Successful applicants are offered a position in one of four choirs most suited to their voice type, age and musical development.

The auditions, at locations all around Australia, are open to all applicants and allow hopefuls to showcase their musical ability face-to-face.

For those living further than 200km away from any of the audition cities audiovisual auditions are also accepted.

If you want to learn from the best and share your passion for singing on a national stage, visit the Gondwana Choirs website www.gondwanachoirs.com.au for audition applications and program brochures - applications close Monday, August 22.
